

Care Connection Community

Here for you on the frontlines of healthcare

Lana has always held a special place in her heart for the small Colorado farming community where she was born and raised. So it's no surprise she was drawn to the rural character of Parker, her hometown of 15 years. But today Lana is more likely to encounter a Flight-for-Life Helicopter or an ambulance than a tractor. As the Director of Emergency and Trauma Services, you'll find Lana and her team serving on the frontlines of healthcare.

A Registered nurse for 20 years, Lana has extensive experience in critical care, emergency, flight and disaster nursing. At Parker Adventist Hospital, Lana is responsible for the 24-7 day-to-day activities of the emergency department, where she interfaces with all hospital departments and with all pre-hospital services, including police, fire and emergency medical service providers.

Lana is an example of the extraordinary commitment to advanced training you'll find here at Parker Adventist Hospital. In fact, we have assembled a team of emergency department nurses who are all Trauma Core Course certified. Plus, every one of our emergency room physicians and trauma surgeons is certified in Advanced Trauma Life Support. To understand why Parker Adventist is such a remarkably different kind of hospital, simply look to the dedicated people who have been called to care here. Competent, compassionate people like Lana Currance.
